7th and 8th Grade Literacy

- 2 inch binder - labeled with name and class on the front and side
- 1 package of lined paper (put this inside the binder)
- 6 tabs left blank - we will fill these in together

8th Grade Social Studies

- 2 inch binder - labeled with name and class on the front and side
- 6 tabs left blank - we will fill these in together

7th Grade Social Studies

2 inch binder - labeled with name and class on the front and side
6 tabs left blank - we will fill these in together

7th and 8th Grade Science

Composition notebook, at least 100 sheets (you may need another one later in the year if this one is filled)
1 pocket folder

7th Grade Math

1.5 inch (or similar) binder - labeled with name and class on the front and side
5 tabs left blank - we will fill these in together
An assortment of grid and lined paper for your binder
Ruler
Graphing Calculator

- Recommended for home use. We have a class set of TI 84 Plus calculators, but these may not be taken home. Students will use graphing calculators throughout the year and will need them for homework assignments. There are a number of graphing calculator apps and websites that are also great resources. I will share these with students at the beginning of the year so that families can make an informed decision about graphing calculator purchases.

8th Grade Math

Graph paper composition notebook
1.5 inch (or similar) binder- labeled with name and class on the front and side
8 tabs left blank - we will fill these in together
Ruler
Graphing Calculator

- Strongly recommended for home use. We have a class set of TI 84 Plus calculators and students will be allowed to use those or similar on the Algebra Exit Exam and during the school day. It is crucial that students become very familiar with a graphing calculator during Algebra 1. There are a number of graphing calculator apps and websites that are also great resources; however, some are a bit too “user friendly.” I will share these with students at the beginning of the year so that families can make an informed decision about graphing calculator purchases.
